COMMERCE AND THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

YOUNG MEN READY TO TAKE "SAFE JOBS."

ENTERPRISE AND KNOWLEDGE OF BUSINESS NEEDED.

There are in England alone 130 schools attached to the Headmasters' Conference, writes Sir Herbert Morgan in a Home paper. These are all classified as public schools, and between them they are responsible for the training and education of many thousands of boys. The avowed object of these schools is to turn out good citizens.

To what extent are they proving successful? The important part which they have played in our national life in the past is now held in question. But it may not be impertinent to ask, "How far have their methods changed during the last half-century?" or "To what extent have they been adapted to meet present-day needs of a useful and complete citizenship?"

An Industrial Nation.

A certain grounding in the sciences, some knowledge of elementary science, free scope for the exercise of most field sports—these admirable things the English public schoolboys have received for many generations and continue to receive to-day. What, however, is lost sight of is the vital and paramount fact that England is more than ever an industrial nation.

It is useless to ignore the fact that commerce is the dominating factor in England's national life. Upon it also depends culture, art, literature, and the humanities. The right outlook on commerce is therefore a matter of supreme importance in our schools.

But I venture to think that neither our public schools nor our universities are yet fully alive to this fact.

Safety First.

So far as character building, poise, and the creation of a certain type of atmosphere are concerned, these institutions fully justify their existence. But something more is needed in this strenuous and competitive age. Many boys on leaving school are sufficiently content with "getting a job" and earning a salary, with a secure position and reasonable prospect of permanency. That opportunity is all they ask from life. That they are rendering useful service to the State is a position that would never enter their thoughts.

Now, is anything done to instill into the minds of these boys a conception of the importance of their work? Are they taught, for instance, that the preservation of the nation's commerce is as much a part of national defence as membership of the school's cadet corps?

I certainly think that the history of the development of the nation's commerce, together with a study of the lives of great industrial leaders during the last fifty years should act as an inspiration to youth. Why should the hero worship of the coming generation be monopolised by the study of the lives of soldiers and statesmen to the exclusion of our great commercial leaders?

Useless Knowledge.

When they embark upon a commercial career—these boys perform their duties to the best of their ability; but have they any idea as to how much the knowledge they are acquiring at school is likely to be of practical utility? Do they realise the specific usefulness of this knowledge to themselves in their after-career?

Of what practical use does many a young man fresh from public school or university think that he can be in the world of business? He offers his services to some employer. But to do what? He simply does not know. Ought he not previously to have been sufficiently acquainted with the essentials of commercial life to know something of what his duties would be and of his capacities to fulfil them? Ought he not to know more of the relationship of his studies to their usefulness?

Teach Them What "Business" Means.

I am not for a moment suggesting that technical business training should be given in our public schools. To many such a course would be a sheer waste of time. But I do hold very strongly that those definitely destined for commerce should be afforded the opportunity of acquiring a more detailed knowledge of the work that will be expected of them.

RESCUERS' STORY OF LOST YACHT.

"ROCKET DROPPED IN FIELD."

Coastguardsmen and lifeboat men told graphic stories of the loss of the yacht Islander off the Cornish coast on August 20, when the official inquiry was held at Fowey.

Mr. A. T. Bucknill, for the Board of Trade, announced that Mr. Ross, Station Officer of Coastguards in Fowey district, who was directly concerned in the inquiry, had been taken ill.

It was decided to proceed with evidence which would not involve him.

Later in the sitting a doctor said that Mr. Ross was suffering from nervous debility. He thought that the subject of the inquiry had been on his mind.

A further medical report will be given today.

Rocket "Dropped."

Leonard Russell Bate, of the Volunteer Rocket Life-Saving Company, described the firing from the cliff of the rocket, which fell about 40 yards ahead of the yacht.

Mr. Bucknill: Had you a second rocket?—There was a second one in the gear, but willing hands carrying it over the fields had dropped it in the furze and we could not find it.

James Taylor, a coastguard at Looe, said that he decided to place his weather watch on his station at five minutes to seven in the evening.

He told the District Officer, Smith, what he was going to do, and Smith replied: "We will wait and get the weather report at seven o'clock."

On Signal Pad.

Acting upon a telephoned instruction from Mr. Smith, he told Polperro to go on bad weather watch at 8 p.m. instead of 10 p.m., as visibility was getting worse. He did not enter that instruction in the telephone log.

The Commissioner: Why did you not enter that message in the phone book?—I thought it was casual at the time.

Could you possibly get a more important order than to tell a station to put on bad weather watch?—It is an important order if it is given as an order.

How did you get the message that there had been a ship sunk?—I wrote it on the signal pad.

Did you pass it on to the district officer?—I tried to get him on the telephone but could not.

Almost "Looping-the-Loop."

Daniel Cook, signalman of the Fowey lifeboat, said that the lifeboat stopped for a minute a half just inside the harbour, opposite Polperro coast guard station.

They were about 50 feet from the rocks. He sent a succession of flashes but had no reply.

In Lantivet Bay he again called the shore, and after a little received an answer.

The Commissioner: I suppose the lifeboat was rolling a good deal?—She was doing everything except looping the loop. (Laughter.)

The inquiry was adjourned until to-day.

FULL INVESTIGATION URGED.

A more comprehensive inquiry is being made in the system of coast watching as organized by the Board of Trade since it took over the work from the Admiralty in 1923.

This was one of the findings, announced at Fowey (Cornwall), of the court of inquiry which investigated the loss of the yacht Islander in Lantivet Bay in August, when Commodore Douglas King and five others were drowned.

The Commissioner: Mr. E. A. Dight, K.C., said: "The flashes on the yacht were sent at 8.30 p.m., but no alarm could be conveyed until 9.23 p.m. Overlooking Lantivet Bay was a coastguard hut, but it was not manned on the night of the disaster."

Other conclusions were:—There absence of a look-out at Lantivet delayed giving assistance to the yacht.

The Board of Trade regulations were not complied with by District Officer Smith, but Station Officer Ross of Fowey, committed no breach of regulations.

The organization and system of coastguard services in operation were not sufficient for the purpose of saving the Islander.

It was also found that the provision for a proper manning of all the stations in which a look-out was necessary in the weather conditions prevailing.

"THE GREEN PASTURES."

THUNDERBOLTS FOR THE EARTH.

We give the following extract from "The Green Pastures," the negro "morality play" which was banned in England.

God's Office again. Somewhere the Choir is singing: "A City Called Heaven." In the office are Two Women Cleaners. One is scrubbing the floor, the other dusting the furniture. The one dusting stops and looks out of the window. There is a whirr and a distant faint boom. The Choir stops.

First Cleaner: Dat was a long way off.

Second Cleaner [At window]: Yes, ma'am. An' dat must a' been a big oad. Deggone, de Lawd must be mad fo' sho', dis mo'nin'. Dat's de 'ol' six' thund'bolt since breakfast.

First Cleaner I wonder where at He's pitchin' dem.

Second Cleaner: My goodness, don't you know!

First Cleaner [A little hurt]: Did I know I wouldn't ask de question.

Second Cleaner: Every one of dem's bound fo' de earth.

First Cleaner: De earth! You mean dat little ol' dreecin' place?

Second Cleaner: Dat's de planet. [Another faint whirr and boom.] Dere goes another.

First Cleaner: Well, bless me. I didn't know dey was thund'bolts.

Second Cleaner: Wha! you think dey was!

First Cleaner [Above desk]: I wasn't sho', but I thought maybe He might be whittlin' a new star o' two, an' de noise was jest de chips fallin'.

Second Cleaner: Carrio, where you been? Don't you know de earth is de new scandal? Everbody's talkin' 'bout it.

First Cleaner: Dey kep' it from me.

Second Cleaner: Ain't you noticed de Lawd's been unhappy lately?

First Cleaner [Thoughtfully]: Yeah, He ain't been His old self.

Second Cleaner: What did you think was de matter? Lumbago?

First Cleaner [Petulantly]: I didn't know. I didn't think it was fo' me 't iniquity.

Second Cleaner: Well, it jest so happens dat de Lawd is riled as he be by dat measly little earth. Or I should say de eum dat's on it.

First Cleaner: Dat's mankind down dere.

Second Cleaner: "Dey mus' be sum, too, to git de Lawd so wukked up."

First Cleaner: I s'pose so. [Another whirr and boom.] Looks like He's lettin' dem feel de wrath. Ain't dat a shame to plague de Lawd dat way?

Second Cleaner: From what I hear dey been beggin' fo' what dey're gittin'. My brother flew down to bring up a saint de other day and he say from what he see mos' of de population down dere has made de debil king an' dey wukkin' in three shifts fo' him.

First Cleaner: You cain't blame de Lawd.

Second Cleaner: Co'se you cain't. Dem human bein's 'd make anybody bile ovah. Ev'rytime de Lawd try to do sompin' fo' dem, deggone, if dey don't stahst some new ruckus.

First Cleaner: I take notice He's been wukkin' in yere mo' dan usual.

Second Cleaner: I wish He'd take us ladies fix it up. Wouldn't take a minute to make dis desk gold-plated.

First Cleaner: I s'pose He likes it dis way. De Lawd's kind o' fashioned in some ways. I s'pose He keeps dis office plain, an' simple on purpose.

Second Cleaner [Finishing her work]: I don't see why.

First Cleaner [Looking off]: Well, it's kind o' a nice place to come to when He's studyin' some-thin' important. 'Most evahthin' else in heaven's so 'in 'n' grae maybe ev'ry now an' den He jest gits sick an' tired of de glory. [She is also collecting her utensils.]

Second Cleaner: Maybe so. Jest de same I'd like to have a free hand wid dis place for a while, so's I could gold it up.

[God appears in the doorway.]

God: Good mo'nin', daughters.

First and Second Cleaners: Good mo'nin', Lawd. 'We was jest finishin'.

God: Go ahead, dem, daughters.

[Goes to the window.]

First and Second Cleaner: Yes, Lawd. [They exit. On Stage.]

Good mo'nin', Gabriel.

[On stage Gabriel says: "Good mo'nin', wukkers. And, cain't de Lawd stand in de doorway for a moment watching God—a notebook and pencil in his hand.]

BURIED BIBLE SECRETS.

SEARCH AT HOME OF ABRAHAM.

Sir William Flinders Petrie, the veteran archaeologist whose research work in Egypt and Palestine has earned him world-wide repute has left London for South Palestine to search for Relics of Neolithic man of more than 5,000 years ago, and Evidences of the Biblical patriarchs Abraham and Isaac.

The visit marks his jubilee of research work in this part of the world, for it will be 50 years next month that he embarked on his scientific investigations of bygone civilisations.

1,000 Years' Gap.

His season's work in the neighbourhood of Gaza, he explained will follow two lines of research:—

First he hopes to secure at Tell Ajlul (a few miles south of Gaza) sufficient data of people of the later Stone Age to fill in a gap of about 1,000 years, thus completing the ancient history of Palestine, and obtaining a continuous record, linked with that of Egypt, from the Neolithic Age (3400 B.C. onwards).

Secondly, he will investigate the mound of Gerar, where Abraham and Isaac lived about 2300 B.C. Discussing his plans shortly before his departure, Sir Flinders referred to the possibility of unearthing something that may definitely be linked with Abraham and Isaac.

Our party from London," he said, "will number 14, all of them members of the British School of Egyptian Archaeology. We shall have several hundred native workmen chiefly girls. We are not looking for treasure, but for fragments of history."

HOW TO GET RID OF INDIGESTION.

Those who suffer from indigestion, gastritis, acidity, flatulence, dyspepsia, heartburn, etc., will be glad to learn that instant relief can be obtained by taking half a teaspoonful of "Bismarck Magnesia" powder or two or three tablets in a little water immediately after eating or whenever pain is felt. This instantly neutralises the acid that causes all the trouble, stops the fermentation, heals and soothes the inflamed stomach lining, and restores painless, normal digestion. Get a package of "Bismarck Magnesia" from your chemist to-day; use as directed, and you will soon be telling your friends how you got rid of indigestion.

RINGWORM OF DRY NATURE ON ARM.

Baby Restless at Night. Healed by Cuticura.

"My baby had a ringworm on his arm which irritated terribly. After about a week it formed a circle about the size of a six-penny piece. It kept spreading until it became twice the size of a half a crown, practically covering his arm below the elbow. It was of a dry nature and irritated so much that the child tried to scratch it, and was restless at night. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Ointment so purchased a box. In about a week it was scaling and in about a fortnight he was healed." (Signed) Mrs. F. Catchpole, 3, Pearson Rd., Maudley, Plymouth, Eng., April 1, 1930.

For all purposes of the toilet and bath, Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Talcum are excellent.

Sample each Soap, Ointment and Talcum free upon request from Dr. J. C. & Co., 21, Cross Street, Singapore. Sold throughout the World.

THE SILVER SCREEN.

INTERESTING CENTRAL THEATRE PROGRAMME.

At the Central Theatre particularly interesting items in the Paramount news are the views of E.100 setting off on her thousand-mile journey across Canada, and scenes from the yacht races at Cowes, showing Britannia in heavy weather. The comedy "Accidents Will Happen" suffers from slowness of movement; one misses the liveliness and swift action of the silent screen. In "The Wolf of Wall Street," George Bancroft in the title rôle gives a convincing character study of the "lone wolf" whose boast is that no man can make a fool of him. How his business friend and rival attacks his most vulnerable spot, his blind love for a selfish and wanton wife, and the Wolf's revenge make a plot of strong dramatic interest. Baclanova plays the faithful wife with great skill. The Wall Street scenes are well-staged and photographed but unfortunately the voices were not clear especially in the opening scenes, though most of the dialogue is easily heard and Baclanova's songs to her own accompaniment are well recorded.

MME. DAUPHIN-DESMONDE
COMING ON MONDAY.

"Magic," feats of telepathy, amazing escapes, and "clairvoyance," the Hong Kong Amusements Co. informs us, from the repertoire of Madame Dauphin-Desmonde, the illusionist, and the only white woman who has beaten the Indian fakirs at their own game. She will perform at the Star Theatre, Kowloon, from Monday.
Madame Dauphin-Desmonde is assisted by a bevy of beauties led by Teska Hodson who was, till lately, with John Tiller's dancing girls.
Booking is open at Moutrie's and the Star Theatre, and patrons are recommended to make their reservations early.

GIRLS SACRIFICED FOR BOYS.

HEAD MISTRESS' PROTEST.

Speaking at the prize distribution at Raine's school, Stepping, the headmistress, Miss Margaret B. Haugh, referred to a number of the schoolgirls having left before reaching the age of sixteen.
It is most disheartening for the staff to find that a girl who, perhaps, has come in late and had special help leaves before taking the first school examination, which is considered the minimum result of a secondary school education," she said. "I find that some parents are inclined to sacrifice their girls for the sake of the boys, stating that the girls do not require to earn their living and will probably marry.
"I protest strongly that education is not primarily or chiefly vocational, and that a girl has a right to a full education. I know that many parents make great sacrifices to enable their children to continue their education, but some do not."

PRINCE OPENS VILLAGE COLLEGE.

FARM CHILDREN'S WELCOME.

Sawston (Cambridgeshire).
"Till we have built Jerusalem
In England's green and pleasant land."

So we all sang when the Prince of Wales opened England's first village college at Sawston.

It was a simple ceremony, appropriate to the homeliness of the countryside for which the village college is designed.

Sawston is just a small Cambridgeshire village seven miles from the county town, and it was a country welcome from village children, farmers, farm labourers and all those who live by the land that the Prince received.

After the college was dedicated by the Bishop of Ely, the Prince declared it open, and congratulated the Cambridgeshire County Council upon its bold and original attempt to give the English countryside the opportunities for education and social life that the towns already enjoy.

For All Ages.

The college, he added, was for all country people without distinction of age, sex or occupation, and he congratulated Mr. Henry Morris, Director of Education for the county, on the enthusiasm he had shown in bringing it into being.

Primarily it was for the children. The older children of nine villages now had this for their school. By such centralisation it was possible to give them a wider scope of education and a higher standard of instruction. The Prince went to the ceremony by air.

The college is a long, low "E" shaped building, although the third wing, which will contain more classrooms, laboratories, and a mechanics' workshop, has still to be added.

Children have been attending the school for a fortnight. The gowns of the teachers, who are all graduates of universities, have particularly intrigued them, for they had never seen such things before.

HAPPY HOMES OF HOLLYWOOD.

WIVES WITH BIGGER SALARIES THAN HUSBANDS.

Housekeeping in Hollywood, among the many famous film couples who are happily married, has its own peculiar problems, which arise from the fact that husband and wife each earn large sums, and sometimes the wife earns more than the husband.

Even when the husband and wife are caring about the same sum, the man sometimes argues in favour of the age-old privilege of supporting his wife. It is admitted that many of Hollywood's matrimonial wrecks occurred through tangled finances in the home.

There are, however, many couples who have apparently reached a solution. They are living married lives in the "happy ever after" style.

The solution is not always revealed to the world. No one knows what system Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford have adopted. Both were independently wealthy when they married. Since then they have been associated in film and business enterprises so much that their interests seem as one.

Louise Fazenda has very definite ideas on the subject. She is old-fashioned enough to believe that a man should support his home.

Miss Fazenda Pays for Clothes.

Mr. Hal Wall, of First National pictures, Los Angeles, therefore, foots the bills of his household. Miss Fazenda insists on buying her own clothes.

Irene Rich, drawing a large salary from pictures, is married to a successful business man who insists on supporting his wife.

Miss Rich, however, pays the school and personal bills of her two daughters when they come home from college. Her money is in her own name. She can spend it how she likes—except on footing the grocer's bill.

There is no such thing as a separate banking account in the well-known acting team of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Gleason. Their grown-up son is now also in pictures, so three incomes go into the household.

Rod La-Route and Vimma Bandy have worked out a "happy plan" where Rod takes care of the living expenses and Miss Bandy pays for some of her luxuries.

Anthony Bushell and Zelma O'Neal live on the husband's pay, despite the fact that he earns less as an actor than his wife does as an actress. The husband pays the rent of the house.

O'Neal, who "broke" first of her money, pays for such incidentals as motor-cars herself.

FIGHT AGAINST LEPROSY.

WORK OF EMPIRE RELIEF ASSOCIATION.

Lord Chelmsford, the president, was in the chair at a meeting of the general committee of the British Empire Leprosy Relief Association held at the India Office. A testimony to the work of the association contained in the report on the study tour of the Secretary of the Leprosy Commission of the League of Nations was read:—"The association is not a charitable institution. It is a health organization on a grand scale, which endeavours to exercise international action on scientific lines. The association certainly deserves a high place among institutions for international action against leprosy."

World Work.

Lord Chelmsford said that the association had a remarkable record of achievement to place before subscribers. In Nigeria it had provided 63 settlements for leprosy treatment and 59 in Nyasaland and Rhodesia. Its organ, the quarterly Leprosy Review, went to workers and investigators all over the world. They had a right to ask the general public for a support which at present was altogether inadequate. The Colonial Office and the Colonial Governments gave much appreciated assistance, but their means were limited and they had very many other claims upon them for the combat of disease and insanitation.

A Million Doses.

Dr. R. G. Cochrane, the secretary, gave an account of his tour early in the year in Egypt, the Sudan, Uganda, Kenya, Zanzibar, Tanganyika, Nyasaland, North and South Rhodesia, and South Africa. During the six years of its existence the association had sent out at least 1,000,000 doses of remedies against leprosy to workers in the field. It had done a great deal towards publishing and spreading information. It had done much to encourage the training of medical officers for the organization of leprosy work. The work was seriously handicapped by lack of funds. It was tragic to think that in the whole of East and Central Africa there was no one institution comparable to those in India where medical officers and dressers could get a training in the diagnosis and treatment of leprosy.

ORPHANS OF THE 1914-18 STORM.

MR. LLOYD GEORGE AND THE EX-KAISER.

Mr. Lloyd George was presented with the Freedom of Cowbridge, Glamorgan last month. It is 12 years since the honour was first offered to him in recognition of his war services.

"All I claim," he said, "is that I was one of millions who did their best."

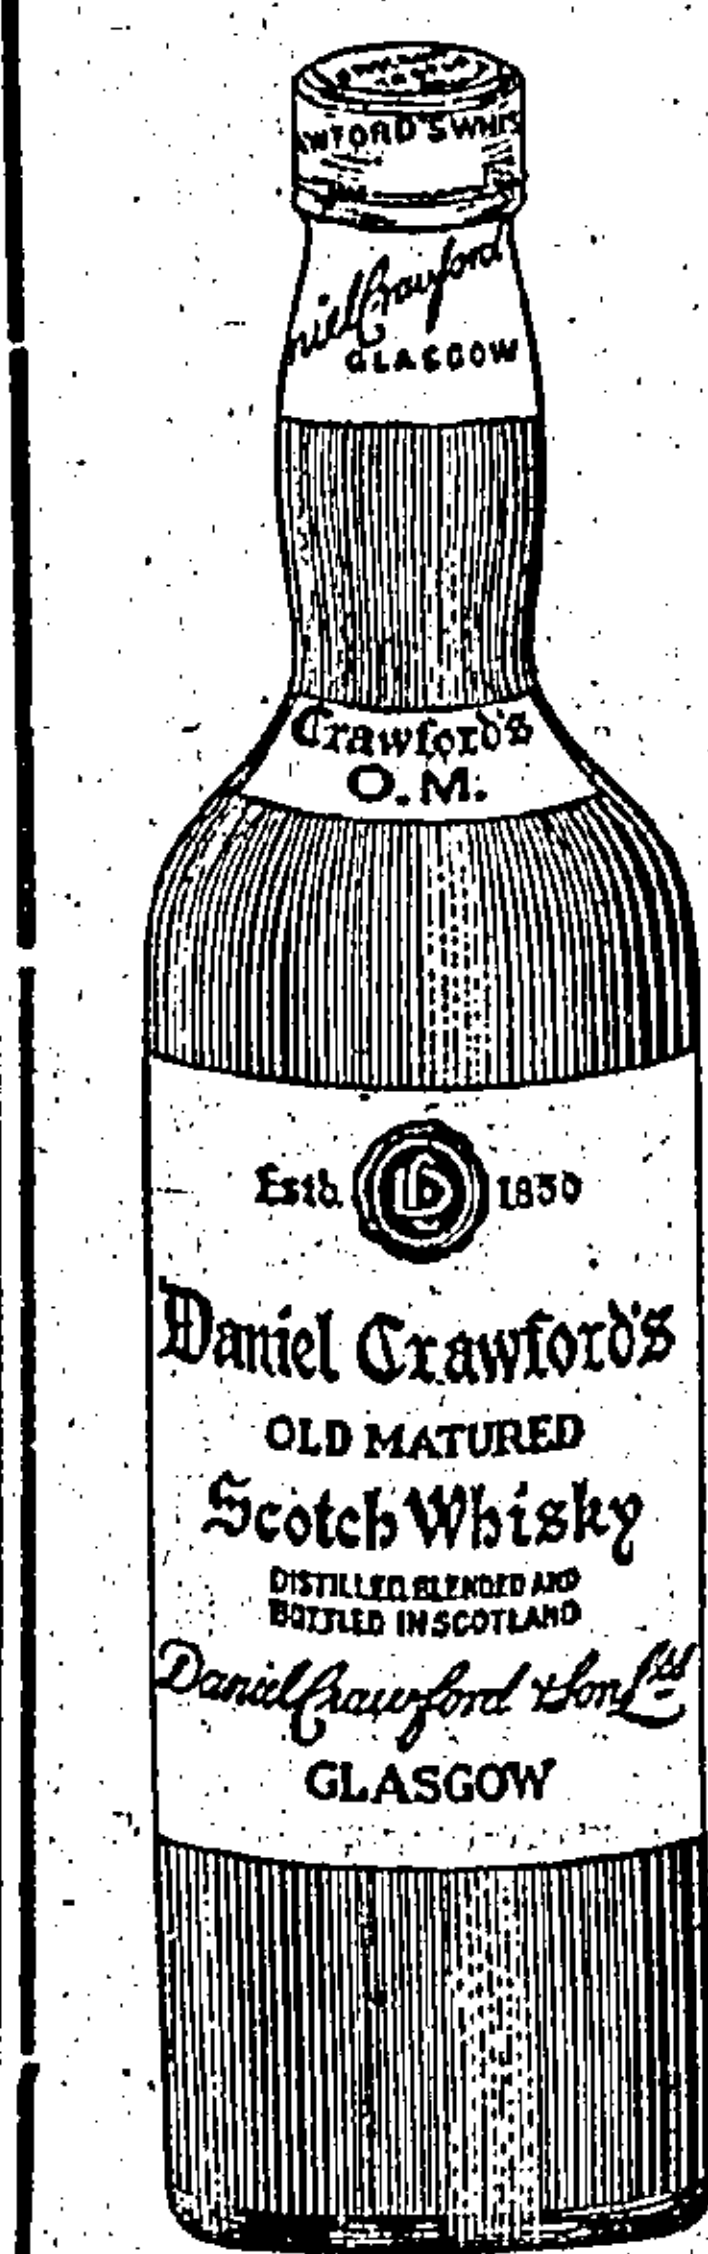

"Since the war torments of a great deal of muddy, detraction have swept over me, but you have remembered in spite of that. Jordan will wash all of it away."

"You have referred to the fact that I am one of the very few left of those who took a prominent part in the great drama—the Prime Minister of France at the beginning of the war, M. Clemenceau, Marshal Foch, Field-marshal Lord Oxford, Lord Balfour, Bonar Law, President Wilson—I think most of the great figures of the war have disappeared, and I do not know that I am very proud of the fact that the Kaiser and I seem to be the only orphans." (Laughter.)

Mr. Lloyd George added the remark that he had never been quite sure what his privileges were in the many boroughs to the citizenship of which he had been admitted. So far as he could discover, there was only one place where he got any advantage—in the Borough of Conway, where he was allowed to drive over the bridge without paying toll.

OBJECTS.—The Company has been formed to carry on the business of Brewers, Distillers, Maltsters, Wine and Spirit Merchants, Aerated Waters, Cordial and Ice Manufacturers and any other business as indicated in the Memorandum of Association, a copy of which forms part of this prospectus.

PROSPECTS OF COMPANY.—The advent of a Brewery in this Colony cannot now be looked upon as an entirely new project, but in view of changed conditions, it is no exaggeration to say that its success on the lines indicated in this prospectus may now be anticipated with complete confidence. The main contributing factor is the already largely increased and rapidly growing consumption of beer as a beverage amongst all classes, particularly the Chinese people, in the Far East, giving a market for sales in China alone, which can be assuredly expected to tax a Brewery such as is proposed to its capacity once the work of its establishment is reasonably advanced. The following facts are presented for consideration:—

1. All materials required by the Company are duty free in Hong Kong enabling a first class beer to be placed on the market at the lowest possible price. The machinery and plant are being purchased from Messrs. Skoda Works of Pilsen, Czechoslovakia, who are among the leading manufacturers of Brewery plant. The manufacturers have guaranteed the quality and output, and will furnish the services of an expert brewer.
2. The advantage enjoyed in this Colony in comparison with those countries from which our present supplies of Beer are imported, so far as supply and cost of labour is concerned, are manifest.
3. Climate Conditions. One of the most successful Breweries operating in the Far East is at Manila.
4. Furthermore, as the Company requires a refrigerating plant for the Brewery, the manufacture of ice, also accommodation for cold storage will be considered, and will be easy of development as an additional source of revenue. It may be stated that a contract has already been entered into, on behalf of the Company, with the Dairy Farm, Ice and Cold Storage Co., Ltd., for supply at a remunerative price of the whole of the Company's excess production of ice.
5. The following figures speak for themselves.

Importation of Beer and Stout into Hong Kong.

1926: 496,549 Gallons. 1927: 731,021 Gallons. 1928: 599,856 Gallons.

The exceptional increase in 1927 was due to supplemented Naval and Military forces (the "Shafroes") in Hong Kong.

6. Breweries established at Peking, Tsingtao, Shanghai and Manila are operating most successfully.

SCOPE OF ACTIVITIES.—Brewery: Upon the basis of consumption in the Colony so far as same is ascertainable, it is estimated that about 50 per cent. will be consumed locally and the remainder will be exported. A reasonable estimate of output is 200 Hogsheads per week.

Distillery: It is also the intention of the Company to erect a Distillery capable of an output of about 930,000 gallons per year of alcohol of the highest grade, for drinking purposes as well as for other uses, both for local and export trade.

CO₂ Gas: It is proposed to purchase a Liquifying Plant capable of transforming all the CO₂ gas obtained by fermentation at the Brewery and Distillery into a marketable product. As this gas is a by-product of Distilleries and Breweries the turning of it into liquid gas is a comparatively cheap process. CO₂ gas is used as a refrigerating medium, also in the manufacture of aerated water and for various other purposes.

SITE AND WATER SUPPLY.—It is proposed to acquire a lease of land situated on Castle Peak Road. The water supply is adequate, and is of the highest quality. The following is an extract from the certificate of the Hong Kong Government Analyst as to the suitability of the water for brewing:—

"I am of opinion, from the above results, that this water is quite suitable for brewing of dark ales, stout and porter, and with the addition of 8 grains of magnesium sulphate per gallon, would be suitable for brewing of pale ales."

MANAGEMENT.—A competent Brewer is available, and the executive positions in the Company will be filled by experienced business and technical officers.

CAPITAL REQUIREMENTS.—For the formation of the Company and for the construction of the buildings and the purchase of the necessary plant and machinery for an output of 200 Hogsheads of Beer, Lager and Stout per week and 10 tons of Ice per day it is estimated that the capital required will be $500,000.00.

ESTIMATED PROFITS.—It is estimated that the net profit on the above capital outlay will amount to 24.5 per cent. per annum.

Application for shares should be made upon the form accompanying the Prospectus and sent to the Company's Bankers together with a remittance of $2.50 per share, the amount of the deposit.

Where no allotment is made the deposit will be returned in full and where the number of shares allotted is less than the number subscribed a proportionate amount of the deposit will be returned.

Prospectuses can be inspected at and Application Forms obtained from the Company's Bankers, and at and from the office of the Company at Rutton Buildings, No. 7, DUNDRELL STREET, VICTORIA, HONG KONG.

The following further information is given in accordance with the requirements of the Companies Ordinance, 1911.

- (a) A copy of the Memorandum of Association is printed in the full hereof.
- (b) Directors' Qualification and Remuneration.—The Articles of Association provide that the qualification of a Director is to be the holding of Two hundred shares. The remuneration of Directors will be decided at a General Meeting of Shareholders but will be not less than $1,000.00 per annum.
- (c) Underwriting and Brokerage.—Brokerage at a rate not exceeding 4% per cent. will be paid on all shares underwritten.
- (d) The Company will pay the preliminary expenses of and incidental to the formation of the Company up to the time when it becomes entitled to commence business.
- (e) Material Contracts.—No material contracts have been entered into on behalf of the Company, other than the contract for a lease of land and the contract with the Dairy Farm, Ice and Cold Storage Co., Ltd., heretofore referred to.
- (f) Payment to Promoters.—For the services rendered and expenses incurred by the Promoters, who have been engaged for a lengthy period in the necessary investigations, there will be allotted to the Promoters two thousand shares in the Company credited as fully paid.
- (g) Nature and extent of Promoters' interest in promotion.—Other than the interest of Mr. Ruttonjee in regard to the proposed lease, and the interest of certain of the Directors, no Promoters, no Director is interested in promotion of the Company, and no consideration has been paid or given to any person for inducing him to become or to qualify him as a Director.

This Prospectus has been duly filed with the Registrar of Companies.

Dated the Tenth day of November, 1930.

SIR JOHN BLAND-SUTTON.

EMINENT SURGEON IN HONG KONG.

Sir John Bland-Sutton, Bart. who is a past President of the Royal College of Surgeons and also a past President of the Royal Society of Medicine, arrived in the Colony on Monday, on the Blue Funnel liner Hector, accompanied by Lady Sutton.

Sir John is one of the most eminent surgeons Great Britain has ever produced and has done a lot of original work in pathology. He retired at the end of last June, since when he has done a lot of travelling. He was at the height of his career during the War when his genius with the knife and his sound knowledge of the anatomy of the human body and its requirements were responsible for saving the lives of thousands of our wounded.

Sir John recently donated the Middlesex Hospital of Pathology to the Government who in return named the pathological department of one of their latest and most modern hospitals the Bland-Sutton Department.

Since his arrival in Hong Kong, Sir John has been the guest at many parties. On Wednesday night, the British Medical Association gave a dinner in his honour, while he attended a tea party given by the Medical Society of the university on Thursday, and on the same night he was present at a dinner given in his honour by the Chinese Medical Association.

BRIDEGROOM SENT TO GAOL.

$2,500 ROBBERY FROM HIS BRIDE'S EMPLOYERS.

Frank Senger, aged twenty-six, an artist, who was arrested during his honeymoon at Blackpool, was sentenced at Maryborough Police Court to six months' hard labour and fined $50, with the alternative of an additional three months' imprisonment, for stealing jewellery money, and other property worth $2,500, from the house of Mr. and Mrs. Whaddia, in Gloucestershire, Paddington.

His wife, Rosa Senger, aged twenty-three, who was accused of being concerned in the theft, was found not guilty and discharged. Detective Inspector Mallett read a statement, alleged to have been made by the man, in which were the following passages:—

"I am desirous that my wife shall not suffer for what I have done, or what she has done under my persuasion. My wife obtained employment with Mr. and Mrs. Whaddia. She was quite excited about the beautiful clothes, and the wonderful things she had seen in the flat. It was as a result of this that I decided to get my wife to help me obtain some of the things. I told my wife that if I could get some of the things it would give us a start. I brought a jemmy with me to the flat to make it appear that there had been a burglary, and then collected a number of articles of jewellery, and a fur coat."

AMAZING NOTE TO GLADYS COOPER.

RUSE TO GET $100.

An amazing letter, purporting to have been written to Miss Gladys Cooper (Lady Pearson) by Miss Sybil Thorndike, was read in the Liverpool Police Court.

Lily O'Neil, aged 35, was remanded on a charge of trying to obtain $100 by false pretences from Miss Gladys Cooper.

The letter, which the prosecution said was an invention, was alleged to have been written by O'Neil. It was supposed to be "signed" by Miss Thorndike and addressed to Miss Cooper from the Royal Court Theatre, Liverpool, where Miss Thorndike and her husband, Mr. Lewis Casson, were appearing.

Miss Binnie Hale, who is mentioned in the letter, is appearing at the Liverpool Empire. It read:—

"Dear Gladys,—I know you will be surprised to hear from me. I am just broken-hearted. Something has been brought to my notice this afternoon about my husband and Binnie Hale, and I am starting divorce proceedings at once. Can you wire me $100 by Thursday morning to the Western Union Cable office at Liverpool?"

"I don't want to get into touch with my solicitor or banker until I can get up to London, which would be on Monday. Do you think you will be able to lunch with me at the Euston Hotel on that day? I am too broken-hearted to say more."

"Yours affectionately, Sybil Thorndike."

O'Neil, who is already in custody on a charge of attempting to obtain $100 by false pretences, was remanded until Wednesday without bail.

WOMAN'S BODY EXHUMED.

DEATH MYSTERY AFTER EIGHT MONTHS.

Sussex. A woman's death here some nine months ago had a dramatic sequel when the police visited the cemetery and exhumed the coffin containing the body.

A jury has been summoned to serve on an inquest.

The body exhumed is that of an extremely beautiful woman, Mrs. Katherine Gertrude Ramago, aged 42, who came to Shoreham, with her husband, Captain Arthur Ramago, three years ago.

Previously they had lived in Wandsworth, London, and in Peckham, London. Their marriage took place in 1910. There were no children.

Mrs. Ramago had a seizure in March 1929. She was suffering from heart trouble. At Christmas she stayed with her mother in Camberwell, New-road. She then complained of acute pain, and returned to her home at Shoreham.

For some time she was convalescent, but on February 7 she died, and death was certified as being due to an embolism while she was suffering from valvular disease of the heart.

The house in which Captain and Mrs. Ramago lived is "Loarno," Swiss Garden-road, a picturesque residence close to the toll bridge known to most motorists coming to Brighton along the old road from West-Sussex.

Cemetery Closed.

Early in the afternoon canvas screens were erected around the grave, which is in the lonely cemetery a mile from Shoreham.

When the dead woman's brother, ex-Detective Sergeant John Norman Moore, late of Vine-street, arrived with a friend, the toll bridge was refused admission, as the card was marked "To admit only one person."

The investigations are being conducted by Superintendent Alce, of Steyning, the headquarters of the division in which Shoreham is situated. Both the Superintendent and Inspector Dobby, of Shoreham, were inside the cemetery.

Weird Night Scene.

The work in the cemetery was carried out by the light of police officers' flash lamps and oil lamps which had been specially brought to the cemetery.

One of the officials who watched the proceedings was the coroner for West Sussex (Mr. F. W. Butler), whose duty it will be to conduct the inquest. He took evidence at the graveside from the local undertaker who was in charge of the funeral. Another person present was Mrs. Ramago's medical attendant, Dr. A. G. K. Leder, of Shoreham.

It was arranged to remove the body to the local mortuary immediately after the coffin had been taken from the grave, and a post-mortem examination will be made by Dr. H. F. Galt, pathologist to the Royal Sussex County Hospital, Brighton.

Relative's Statement.

The action by the police followed a statement made by a relative of the woman. An application was made to the Home Office some time ago for an exhumation order, and at that time it was refused. The order was granted only a few days ago.

In an interview Mrs. Ramago's brother, Mr. John Norman Moore, said: "My sister had a stroke about 1929. Following that her health alternated between good and bad."

"When she died my mother was in the room polishing the windows. My sister had been out of bed and had got back when my mother, in a mirror, saw her suddenly stand up and fall off the bed. She died shortly afterwards."

Captain Ramago, who now lives at Gordon-road, Beckenham, is 35 years of age. Since his wife's death he has married again.

WHY OUNCES AND NOT TAELS?

PRISONER FINDS FAULT WITH GAOL DIET.

CROWN CASE CLOSED IN STABBING CASE.

After seventeen witnesses had been called, the Crown closed its case yesterday against the Chinese prisoner who is charged in connection with the stabbing affray in Victoria Gaol last month, as a result of which Acting Principal Warder Plumb was seriously wounded.

The defendant, after being duly cautioned, elected to give evidence in the Supreme Court but not at the Magistracy. He indicated, however, that he had three witnesses to call and expressed a wish that the Magistrate should hear what his witnesses had to say. The defendant gave the names of three convicts whom he wished the Court to hear.

Among those who gave evidence yesterday was Chief Warder McLeod who was closely questioned by the defendant, who wanted to know why he was put on a rice and water diet for six weeks. Witness told the court that a rice and water diet for six weeks was impossible since the Superintendent did not have the power to give it. "Seven days of rice and water is the maximum he can give, but in conjunction with a visiting Justice of Peace fourteen days may be imposed."

Defendant: If the authorities in the Gaol did not have the power to put me on rice and water for six weeks, why was I so treated?

Dietary Punishment.

Witness told his Worship that the prisoner was given 14 days on No. 2 scale and 28 days on No. 3 scale which was a dietary punishment. The Superintendent has power to order 21 days on No. 2 scale and 48 days on No. 3 scale.

Defendant: Does this dietary punishment include tea?

Witness: No tea is allowed under No. 2 and 3.

Defendant: It is therefore the same as a rice and water diet?

Witness told the Court that a rice and water diet meant six ounces of uncooked rice twice a day with half an ounce of salt. No. 2 scale however consisted of six ounces of rice in the morning, four ounces of vegetables, half an ounce of chutney, a quarter of an ounce of oil and a quarter of an ounce of salt. For the midday meal two ounces of rice was made into a pint of congee. The supper consisted of six ounces of rice, half an ounce of chutney, half an ounce of salt and a quarter of an ounce of oil.

No. 3 scale, said the witness, consisted of ten ounces of rice in the morning, four ounces of vegetables, half an ounce of chutney, a quarter of an ounce of oil and half an ounce of salt. The midday meal consisted of 1½ pints of rice congee and the evening meal of 10 ounces of rice, half an ounce of chutney and a quarter of an ounce of oil.

Why Not Taels?

Defendant then pointed out that the prison regulations, printed in Chinese, showed "taels" and asked why "ounces" were weighed out to the prisoners?

Witness said he could not explain that.

Defendant then told his Worship that the witness influenced the Superintendent of the Gaol and caused the latter to pass severe punishments on defendant. This the witness denied.

Defendant: As to whipping in gaol, are there any regulations covering that?

Witness: Yes, there are. Detective Inspector Shannon who who visited the gaol after the incident said that the defendant had a small cut wound on his groin and when asked how he had come by the wound, he had said that he had accidentally cut himself with a knife. Beyond a small scratch on the back of his hand, the defendant had no other mark, of bruise or injury.

The defendant was questioned at the close of the prosecution's case and on being asked whether he elected to make a statement said: "If I am allowed to speak in the big Court I will speak there rather than waste your Worship's time."

Mr. Williams explained that there was no question of wasting the Court's time. If the prisoner desired to make any statement he was at perfect liberty to do so. If, however, he preferred to speak at the Supreme Court only, he was free to adopt that course.

Defendant did not make a statement. Asked if he wanted to call any witnesses, he said he wanted to call convicts No. 61, No. 478 and No. 428. The case will be continued on Friday afternoon.

SOCIETY OF ST. VINCENT DE PAUL.

STREET SALE OF ROSES ON MONDAY.

In its efforts to raise funds to carry on its charitable work for the coming year, the Society of St. Vincent de Paul will again make its annual appeal to the Public of Hong Kong on Monday, December 1, when it will hold its yearly Sale of Roses.

It is to be hoped that the "Drive" will prove a successful one, for the report for the year 1929 which has just been published is a record of work among the poor of this Colony, of which the Society may well be proud, and on the strength of which it may with every confidence appeal to the generous and charitable public of Hong Kong.

The calls on the Society's funds are increasing. It is therefore in urgent need of support and at this Christmas season we are asked to share our fortune with those upon whom fortune does not smile and help to bring a little happiness into the lives of those to whom the joys and pleasures of Christmas are unknown.

The Hong Kong public know and appreciate the good work done by the Society for the benefit of the Poor of this Colony and will only be too glad to have an opportunity to assist it to carry on and if possible to extend its scope of activities.

CONSTABLE SUMMONED FOR ASSAULT.

CASE AT KOWLOON MAGISTRACY.

Allegations that he had been struck by Chinese Constable C356 were made by Tsang Shek Fook at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday, when Mr. H. R. Butters heard a summons against the constable for assault.

Mr. P. H. Blake appeared for the complainant, and Mr. F. C. E. Hendall was for the defendant.

Giving evidence, the complainant said that on November 10, one day after a dispute between him and the defendant's family, he was invited by the constable to his residence to discuss matters. On November 13, complainant received a visit from the constable and another Chinese detective and was informed that he was wanted at the Police Station.

Accordingly he accompanied the two men to Hung Hom Police Station. On the way, the constable struck him on the chest and back. The detective intervened and asked the constable to stop. The three then proceeded to the Police Station, where the complainant was accused of having struck the constable's wife on November 9. The complainant entered a denial.

Medical Evidence.

Dr. S. Ho Asjee, gave medical evidence regarding an examination carried out by him on the complainant. The complainant had a blackish mark on his chest, and was complaining of pain. The mark was not more than six hours old and was probably caused by the complainant having been struck with a blunt weapon or a fist.

A witness for the prosecution said that he was a short distance behind the complainant when he was escorted to this Police Station. On the way, he heard the constable shouting to the complainant: "May your family be exterminated. You even went so far as to strike a woman!" The constable then proceeded to hit the complainant with his fist.

In denying the charge, the defendant said that there was no assault at all. The complainant tried to escape but was stopped by him. Defendant's statements were supported by the Chinese detective.

After hearing further evidence, his Worship said that he was satisfied that there had been no assault and commented on the conflicting evidence submitted by the witnesses. He then discharged the defendant.

FAMOUS DUTCH EXPLORER.

TO VISIT HONG KONG SOON.

Hong Kong will shortly be visited by an explorer of considerable fame, Mr. Ph. C. Visser, and Mrs. Visser, who, after having successfully accomplished their fourth expedition to the Karakorum, are travelling in China and Japan, before returning to Java, whence they will sail home to their native country, Holland.

Mr. Visser, while in the Far East, has delivered several most interesting lectures on his explorations of the Karakorum and Himalaya.

In Peiping a lecture was arranged under the joint auspices of the Peking Society of Natural History and the Geological Society of China, Mr. Visser being introduced by the world-famous explorer, Dr. Sven Hedin, with whom he has been acquainted for many years past. The lecture, during which many interesting and unique pictures were shown, proved a great success and was widely commented upon by the Peiping Press.

During the stay of Mr. and Mrs. Visser in Hong Kong for a couple of days at the end of October, several of his compatriots here, asked for the favour of a lecture on his explorations, whereupon the University Arts Association arranged for Mr. Visser to deliver a lecture, when he and Mrs. Visser will again pass through Hong Kong, on their way home, on December 8, at 8.30 p.m. in the Great Hall of the University.

The lecture, which will be variegated by lantern slides showing the varied and interesting phases of the explorations, is expected to draw a considerable audience.

ST. ANDREW'S BALL AT THE PENINSULA HOTEL."FAR, FAR FROM SCOTLAND OF THE MIST AND STORM."

GREETINGS FRAE BRITHER SCOTS.

All Hong Kong looks forward to St. Andrew's Ball, that first important function of our social year, and never are we disappointed. Last night's brilliant affair in the Peninsula Hotel added one more delightful memory to the store of those treasured recollections which we all—men and women alike—take out and ponder over as the years pass.

We are all, whatever our national allegiance, proud of the country from which we hail, but no one is prouder than the Scot, and wherever he goes he takes something of his "dear familiar land" with him. It was not only the shields, the tartans, the thistles, and the pipes, that made last night Scottish, but the whole atmosphere of genuine brotherliness, good fellowship and cordial hospitality. We all of us—the Scots themselves no less than other people—enjoy jokes about the mythical Aberdonian, but the guests of St. Andrew's Society know the truth—that one will not find a better host the world over than the patron saint of bonny Scotland.

GREETINGS BY WIRE.

*From the lone shieling on the misty island
Mountains divide us and a waste of sea,
But still the blood is strong, the heart is highland,
And we in dreams behold the Hebrides.*

The usual long list of greetings from "Brither Scots" in all parts of the world were posted on the notice board and were read with interest by most of the guests.

His Excellency Sir William Peel and Lady Peel were the guests of honour and were formally received by the Chieftain (Mr. T. H. R. Shaw) outside the ball room. Supper was served in the hotel dining room, the Chieftain's party being accommodated at a long table behind which hung the shield of St. Andrew's Society. His Excellency took in Mrs. Shaw, while Lady Peel entered on the arm of the Chieftain.

ARRIVAL OF HIS EXCELLENCY.

H.E. the Governor and Lady Peel dined with the Chieftain and party at the hotel before the dance, but were officially welcomed to the ball and met by the Chieftain and Reception Committee at 9.30 p.m. The party then moved into the ball room led by the three honorary pipers—Messrs. W. O. K. Mackie, K. S. Morrison, and H. C. Watson, all of the H.K.V.D.C. At the entrance to the roof garden the pipers and other guests drew aside forming a lane up which His Excellency and the Chieftain walked to the centre of the room. They stood there while the National Anthem was played after which the official party took their seats on the effectively decorated dais at the far end. His Excellency was received at the dais by Mrs. Shaw.

THE DECORATIONS.

Dancing was held in the Roof Garden and Rose Room both cleverly decorated with clan shields illuminated with thistles and tartan.

In the antechamber, facing the guests as they stepped out of the lift was a large portrait of Burns, flanked by illuminated thistles. The two ball rooms, the Roof Garden and Rose Room were decorated with clan shields and thistles. Behind the dais in the Rose Room were displayed the Macintosh arms (the Chieftain's clan). At the far end of the Roof Garden was the Paterson Shield flanked by thistles, while over the door hung the Shaw crest against a draped plaid.

The corridor leading from the Rose Room to "Auchtermuchty" was decorated with greenery and bunting while "Auchtermuchty" itself was further glorified by thistles and a large water colour painting of Edinburgh Castle.

The Macintosh Clan Shield also figured in the card room and dining room, where it occupied a prominent position, illuminated with thistles, behind the Chieftain's seat.

THE STATE LANCERS.

St. Andrew's Ball opens annually with the State Lancers always a picturesque and interesting feature which is watched with great attention by the guests. Those taking part last night were—

The Haggis was born in with all due solemnity by Captain Forsyth preceded by the three honorary pipers. The dish of honour was decorated with eagles feathers and partaken of by every one as a solemn rite to the accompaniment of loud cheers. Following the Haggis came the not less celebrated "Barley Bree." The quich was carried to each man at the Chieftain's table in turn and each "quaffed" in the approved manner, kissing the underside of the quich when he had drunk.

THE CHIEFTAIN'S SPEECH.

GATHERING OF THE CLANS.

*Ne'er claw yer leg, an' fidge yer back
An' him an' haw
But raise yer arm and tell yer crack
Before them a'.*

The Chieftain (Mr. T. H. R. Shaw) said:—

—On behalf of St. Andrew's Society I have the honour to welcome you here this evening, and I would like to say how much we appreciate the presence of H.E. Sir William and Lady Peel. The great interest they take in the doings of all of us in Hong Kong makes for them a warm welcome wherever they are.

"However Fortune kicks the ball"

Scotsmen always forget upon St. Andrew's night and festive Scottish memories and Scottish customs and get together with their friends. This year we are particularly fortunate in having a Highland regiment here and I would extend our hearty greetings to them and to Lieut. Col. MacLaine. We hope they will have a very good time here and give a good account of themselves and hold pride of place for Scotland in the various sports of the Colony. In that I am sure they will have full encouragement from Major General MacLaine who is a valued member of our Society.

Nearing Our Jubilee.

This is the forty-ninth anniversary of the St. Andrew's Society of Hong Kong so we are just approaching our jubilee year, and from the keenness and vim which is being put into our dances to-night I am sure you will agree there is a wealth of youthful spirit amongst us for which a great deal of credit is due to the Reel Club under the expert direction of Pipe Major Mackie and the bonnie lassies with the twinkling feet who are so beautifully dancing the Reels to-night. They and the officers of the Argylls have contributed greatly to the success of our ball this evening, to which I would add our thanks to our trusty henchmen Mr. George Duncan for the decorations which he has so artistically designed, Mr. Peter Ramsay—Chief of "Auchtermuchty" and Mr. K. S. Morrison who has made our dancing arrangements.

Compliment to Scottish Co.,
H.K.V.D.C.

I would also remark upon the regard which the Society have for the Scottish Company under the able command of Capt. Forsyth. Those who had the privilege of being invited to their Halloween dinner know the good fellowship and good sportsmanship which pervade the Company and I should like every young Scotsman coming to the Colony to join them and so get in with the best of good fellows, who are a very useful asset to the well-being of Hong Kong.

St. Andrew.

In proposing the toast of the pious and immortal memory of St. Andrew I would say that while, like all good Scotsmen, he was pious on the right occasions he was a man of parts and a great traveler; in fact he is said to have died abroad and his relics were brought home to St. Andrews where doubtless they proved an inspiration to many a golfer in his hour of need. Perhaps his spirit was somewhere near about "Fauling" a fortnight ago when Mr. Ferguson and his Scottish team managed to win back the challenge cup from "St. George's" after a five years' tussle.

Be that as it may I am sure that amongst all the far flung places where Scotsmen have settled there is nowhere St. Andrew would feel more at home in than Hong Kong. The islands and the sea have not the rugged grandeur of our mountains, lochs and glens but in some ways they call to mind the beauty of the Western Isles and what is better still he would find in Hong Kong a Scottish community whose forebears were of the great Highland and Border clans. In their veins run the heroism and romance which made the stirring events of Scottish history—when a man's pride was to fight for the honour of his clan and his much loved country with that spirit of sturdy independence which is characteristic of Scotsmen all over the world.

Scotland For Ever.

The old Scottish song says:—
*The standard on the Braes o' Mar
Is up and streaming, rarely;
The gathering pipe on Loch-na-gar
Is sounding loud and fairly.*

*The Highland-men, frae hill and glen
It's belted plaids and glittering blades
We bonnets blue and hearts as true
Are coming late and early.*

The days of the "gathering of the clans" when the "Fiery Cross" flew from hand to hand are now in the lore of the past but the pride of race is as strong as ever and the qualities of courage, perseverance and endurance are as great amongst Scotsmen and Scotswomen to-day as when their ancestors gave battle in the days of yore.

In giving you the toast of the pious and immortal memory of St. Andrew I would join with that of "Scotland for Ever":—

*"Land of brown heath and shaggy wood,
Land of the moorlands and the floods, and the mountains,
Land of our sires, what mortal
hand
Can e'er untie the flax band
That binds us to this rugged strand."*

ATTEMPTED BURGLARY AT WHITEWAYS.FANLIGHT FORCED OPEN ON SECOND FLOOR.

A attempted burglary at Whiteaway's Building, which was revealed yesterday when a representative of an English clothing manufacturer visited the second floor used as offices and sample rooms, is being investigated by the Police.

A fanlight window in the corridor about two feet from the floor was found to have been opened by smashing a pane of glass. Finger marks on the window of an adjoining room containing silverware indicated that an attempt also had been made to enter this room, but the intruder had apparently been interrupted while at work.

There are watchmen outside the building and a caretaker who lives on the premises, and at the moment it is not known how the thief could have gained access to the building.

THE ARMY AND AN EPIGRAM.

In the course of his eloquent speech on behalf of the League of Nations, Dr. KOTTEWALL quoted Lao Tzu's saying that, "a fine army is an evil instrument." It is a subtle epigram but a misleading one, except when applied to immense military machines deliberately designed for aggression. Lao Tzu was a hermit philosopher and nothing could have been more horrible to him than the apparent arrogance and ruthlessness of a passing army. Admiration for its efficiency and its pagantry he could not withhold, but it was given with fear and loathing. Confucius had no such dislike of the military, nor had a greater even than Confucius. The future may hold the millennium of which many of us dream, but so far there have been in history only two lengthy eras of peace over large portions of the world. They are the Pax Romana of the ancient world and the Pax Britannica of the British Empire. In the old empire, as in the modern commonwealth of nations under the English Crown, the basis of peace has been efficient fighting forces by land and by sea. As long as the Roman fleet and legions kept the frontiers all within the borders enjoyed security and the rule of law, and the same principle applies to-day. However peaceful men may be by nature, they have never had freedom from war except under the shelter of a fine army.

The British regiment, like the Roman legion, consists of long service men, freely recruited and properly paid for their work. This is not the place to extol the achievements of the British army. That has been done in the magnificent peroration to his "History of the British Army" by Sir JOHN FORTESCUE and, indeed, throughout that monumental work. In India to-day, when feeling runs high between Moslem and Hindu, the strong neutrality of the British soldier gives confidence that order will be maintained impartially and humanely. The British Army has always been the loyal servant of the civil power. It has never sought political influence, and any soldier on the active list who meddles with the affairs of state is regarded by his colleagues as disloyal to his profession. The same tradition applies equally to the British Navy, that mighty police force of the sea. The qualities of heroic imperturbability displayed at the Hankow barricades, and the statesmanship with which the Shanghai Defence Force was handled, were typical of our fighting services. There is work still for them to do in the wild places of the earth. Nothing is further from the minds of British people than aggression against other nations, but we have commitments which depend for their proper discharge upon armed forces. Our fine army is not an evil instrument, and when history weighs up its achievements it will be judged to have been one of the greatest factors in promoting, not war, but peace among the nations.

CHIANG KAI SHEK AND HIS SUBORDINATES.

EVERYONE will wish President CHIANG KAI SHEK success not only in his campaign against brigands and communists but in his efforts to reform his administration. A warning has been issued that negligent and corrupt officials will receive stern punishment. It was, therefore, tacitly admitted that the present methods of the Nanking Government leave room for improvement. "Inactivity must cease, else the Government's heavy and progressive programme is doomed to failure."

An important circular order recently issued by the Central Executive Committee of the Kuomintang was in the same vein. After reiterating the Party's unswerving faith in the Three People's Principles of Sun Yat Sen, an outspoken lecture was delivered to the members under three headings. In the first occurs the significant passage: "Many of our comrades have fallaciously regarded the party as the source of their personal livelihood. Blinded by this misconception they have become more and more insatiable."

Another source of complaint is that the branches of the Kuomintang have regarded themselves as a "rival organ of the local Government and the baneful practice indulged in by various branch headquarters of interfering and finding fault with the corresponding Government administration should, therefore, be discontinued." The third great fault is described as alternately "utilizing the masses as tools" and totally disregarding them.

Marshal CHIANG KAI SHEK and his advisers see clearly that while they may eliminate war lords they are still confronted with the personal characteristics, among a large section of the community, that made war lords and civil wars possible. Many people deserted the war lords because they thought they saw in the Kuomintang not only the winning horse but the master under whom the old methods could be perpetuated. Sun Yat Sen and his successors sought to replace the spirit of the old imperial rule by a loftier conception of republican citizenship. But men do not change in a night. The civil war has left a vast legacy of selfishness and violence, which can only be worn down slowly by rigid patriotism at the head of affairs, and by a real awakening of public opinion throughout the land.

A Pheasant Murder.

For poisoning 185 pheasants with arsenic, David James Gregory, an under-keeper, was sentenced to three months' hard labour at Arundel, Sussex. Gregory was in the service of Violet Lady Beaumont, and was charged with maliciously killing the pheasants, which were valued at £100, on the Slindon estate. It was stated that at the police station he said someone told him the head-keeper would get him discharged, and suggested that he should kill the birds in order to do so. In the case, it was added, he had an unjustified grievance. Gregory's solicitor asked for him to be treated under the First Offenders Act, as it was "a case in which a man, with a weak mind had been led away by another man who exercised a sinister influence." The chairman of the Bench said Gregory might have poisoned children if they had touched the food.

Harvest Festival!

The Vicar of Holy Church, Winchester, the Rev. E. G. Brownrigg, who runs periodic smoking concerts for men "with a barrel of beer," has made a novel departure from custom at the harvest festival. On a table beneath the pulpit was a display which the congregation looked up to gaze and inspect. It included, in addition to corn and produce:

A bottle of whisky.
A bottle of beer.
A bottle of mineral water.
A bottle of milk.
A jug of water.
A pheasant.
A lobster.
A pair of kippers.
Hops.

Other exhibits were joints of pork and mutton, Empire tea and coffee, a bale of wool, a bundle of kindling wood, sugar and jam. Above them all was the Rev. Mr. Brownrigg, who said the year with "thy goodness" was a year of "thy goodness." The main idea, said the vicar, "was to make people think of the ordinary gifts of God."

★ News and Views ★

We would call our readers attention to the prospectus of the Hong Kong Brewers & Distillers, Limited, which appears to-day in our advertisement columns. The authorised capital is $3,000,000, consisting of 300,000 shares of $10 each, $2.50 to be paid on application and $2.50 on allotment. The object of the company, as already stated in a previous issue of the Daily Press, is to brew beer and distil alcohol in the Colony. The market is large and a number of well-known local business men have shown their confidence in the enterprise by joining the Directorate. Let them give us good beer. "Ale that is ale," as Huskisson put it, and prosperity is assured.

Bravo, Holborn!

Londoners have been complaining about the infernal clamour of electric road drills. Now the Holborn Council has struck a blow for the cause of quiet by deciding that no further contracts will be placed without the proviso that silent drills must be used. When the Aeronautical Research Sub-Committee dealing with aircraft noise were attempting to find a common noise worthy to rank with the airplane on the score of loudness, the only comparison they could find was a "pneumatic road drill at 20 feet."

Sir Laurant?

The Permanent French Minister of Air is now a Knight Grand Cross of the Order of the British Empire, and publicly has he mortified this honour. M. Tynan will be unable, however, to call himself Sir Laurant. Foreign holders of British Orders of Knighthood are not supposed to adopt the titles which these Orders entail. True it is that M. Zaharoff is wont at times to call himself "Sir Basil," but then M. Zaharoff was always an original. And, after all, Sir Basil may, for all we know, be a British subject. His nationality is nothing if not volatile. M. Tynan, on the other hand, is indubitably French. He can wear his ribbon and his star, but he cannot change his name.

Divorce in Peru.

Peru has become the second South American country to recognise divorce, Uruguay already has such a law. The new divorce law, which has just been put into effect by Governmental decree, provides that a civil marriage ceremony must precede that of any religious faith. Priests or clergymen are forbidden to celebrate a wedding unless the civil ceremony has been performed previously, under penalty of six months' imprisonment. Divorced husbands or wives are permitted to marry.

Masai Murder Said.

The old Masai custom, whereby young men gain favour in the eyes of girls of their tribe after they have proved their manhood by displaying their spears in human blood, is believed to be responsible for a brutal double murder on the Masai reserve in Nairobi. The scene of the crime was a small shop near administrative headquarters, which was occupied by one Indian and one Somali. A number of Masai warriors who had previously visited the premises on the pretence of selling hides surrounded the shop, yelling and dancing. They rushed inside and drove the two men into corners, where they were riddled with spears. Before leaving the Masai looted and set fire to the shop.

A Word for High Heels.

A kind word for high heels was said by Mr. Theodore H. V. Armour, orthopaedic surgeon of the Royal Southern Hospital, Liverpool, at the annual convention of the Incorporated Society of Chiropractors in Liverpool. "I do not object to high heels," he said. "It is ridiculous to tell a patient who has been wearing high heels all her life not to wear them any more. If a patient is directed not to wear narrow heels, there is some sense in that. Dr. Henry Cohen, speaking on the foot as an index of systemic disease, mentioned a case where a chiropractor, noticing certain symptoms, sent the patient to him, whereupon he discovered in the chest a tube left there after an operation five years before."

A quantity of Chinese wine, amounting to nearly 15 gallons or 117 bottles, was found abandoned on a sampan near Jardine's wharf, West Point, yesterday. The liquor was apparently left away from seeing the approach of the police. An application will be made at the Magistracy for an order to confiscate the liquor.

For being in unlawful possession of 42 tins of prepared non-Government opium, a Chinese was fined $5,000, with the alternative of nine months' hard labour by Mr. R. E. Lindell at the Central Magistracy yesterday. It was stated that the man was arrested at the Yuen On Wharf with the opium strapped around his waist and legs.

A 10-year-old boy recently committed suicide by drowning himself in a well, according to a Chinese Press report from Pakhoi. The child was beaten by his father for disobedience and, in a fit of despair, he threw himself into a well near the house. A villager was lowered into the well and rescued the child, but life was found to be extinct.

Among the articles appearing in the November number of the Yellow Dragon which has just been published is one entitled "Valedictory" by Mr. A. H. It is with regret that we have to announce the death of Miss Mariana MacNair Ray, the five-year-old daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Alex Ray, of Waihow, who passed away at Maudslayi Hospital on Thursday morning. The funeral took place at Happy Valley Cemetery yesterday, the Rev. W. D. King conducting the service.

An Indian constable was rebuked by Mr. R. E. Lindell at the Central Magistracy yesterday for failing to catch a woman hawker. It was stated that the constable saw the woman, who was charged with selling some vegetables but could not catch her the first time because she ran away. The woman was discharged.

Speaking at Macclesfield Mr. J. R. Bremer, Conservative M. P. for the division, said the agricultural industry could no longer be made the shuttlecock of party politicians. Mr. Baldwin had put forward a mixed medley of subsidies and quotas. That, in his opinion, was nonsense. It would raise the cost of living with increased expenditure by the creation of officials, and would not achieve its object. There was only one policy which could be supported. It was known as Empire Free Trade, with duties on foreign foodstuffs. Mr. Bremer added that he was convinced the message the country was giving to-day to politicians was "Get on with your job, and no more tomfoolery."

So Simple!

Adolf Hitler, head of the German Fascists, at a confidential meeting of supporters is reported by the National Zeitung to have explained that his first aim was, with the aid of Italy and England, to destroy France "once and for ever." "Bolshevism," he said, "I feel her for the destruction of France," he is stated to have said. His second aim was then to turn to subjugate England, with the help of Russia and Italy. To Russia he will give India and Poland, and to Italy the African possessions of England.

Dastardly.

A dastardly attack has been made on the liberty of the Englishwoman. The Hereford City Council has decided that a woman may not leave her car outside a shop for more than twenty minutes; that, in fact, she must choose a hat in a third of an hour. In spite of their hate being very ugly, God-dam! I love the English. Their hats will be uglier still if Hereford has its own way. The most distressing feature of the whole business is that the Mayor of Hereford, who gave the casting vote, is a woman. The sex has a traitor. Has she no appreciation of the more delicate shades in the fine art of shopping? Has she never enjoyed that rapid play with a modiste who assures modism that she looks ravishing in everything? Does she suppose that mannequins parade at the double? If the twenty minutes' rule is enforced, many a woman will find that she has bought, not a hat, but a pig in a poke.

★ Local Notes and Events ★

In an advertisement appearing elsewhere in this issue, the Dairy Farm Ice & Cold Storage Co., Ltd., announces reductions in the prices of the various brands of their butter as from Monday next.

The following notice has been issued by the Inspector General of Police (the Hon. Mr. E. D. C. Wolfe) from Police Headquarters: "It is hereby notified that a reward of $25 will be paid by the undersigned to any person giving information leading to the arrest and conviction of any person charged with stealing wires or any other articles, the property of either the Hong Kong Electric Company or the Hong Kong Telephone Company."

Looking Back 25 Years.

A motor river boat, designed for the purpose of navigating the shallow waters of South China, was yesterday launched from the ship-building yard of Messrs. Bailey & Co., Kowloon, where it was built to the order of Mr. J. W. Row. Fitted with a 45 H.P. Gardner Kerosene Motor, the launch will carry 200 passengers with a draught of only two feet. Yesterday she covered the measured mile at a speed of 31 miles per hour. The launch took place in the presence of a number of visitors, Miss Hill christening the vessel Tien Kong as it left the slipway.—Hong Kong Daily Press, November 29, 1905.

Looking Back 50 Years.

J. Berry, J. Mullen, R. Davis, J. Smith and J. Young, five seamen serving on board the British barque Davina, appeared at Marine Court on a charge of refusing to perform their duty on board the said ship on the 24th instant, while in the harbour of Victoria. Captain G. Scott, master of the Davina, said the defendants were borne on the articles of the ship. On Wednesday last they refused duty on board without giving any reason. Berry said he refused duty as the ship was leaky. They had to pump the vessel continually when she was in bad weather. The master, on being recalled, said the ship was pumped out during bad weather for an hour in each watch. Berry then said he was willing to go to his duty, but if the ship leaked when it was loaded he would make another complaint. The other four defendants refused to reply. As they were also wanted on other charges, they were taken into custody. The first defendant was discharged, the remainder were imprisoned with hard labour for one month at the order of the captain.—Hong Kong Daily Press, November 29, 1930.

MOSCOW CONSPIRACY TRIAL.

COURT DESCRIBED AS A HOLLYWOOD STUDIO.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

Moscow, Nov. 27.

At today's proceedings at the conspiracy trial, according to the Tass Agency, a detailed confession was made by an engineer, Kupriannoff, of complicity in the economic sabotage, dating from the foundation of the "Workers' Organization" in 1919.

Professor Charnovsky expressed repentance at participation in the illegal struggle in which he was induced to take a minor part by the hope of a return of the old regime, supported by foreign influences, particularly France.

"Damning Evidence" by the Defendants.

LATER.

The official Tass Agency continues to report the damning evidence of the various defendants in the conspiracy trial.

The Associated Press correspondent at Moscow describes the scene of the trial like a Hollywood studio.

Great batteries of dazzling light illuminate the Court, whose inmates are being "shot" with clicking cinema-cameras from every angle.

The principal defendant, Professor Razin, sits holding an ear-trumpet, eagerly following every word, while the prosecuting lawyer raps out questions with a cigarette in his hand.

PRIME MINISTER ON AN ELECTION.

WORK OF THE NEW SESSION.

The Prime Minister and members of the Cabinet were the guests recently at a reception organized by the National Labour Club and the 1917 Club at the Friends' House, Euston-road.

Mr. MacDonald, who was accompanied by Miss MacDonald, said:—"I see there is all sorts of speculation about a General Election. A General Election will come when the Government is turned out, and either of the other parties can do it if they like, but so far as the Government is concerned its intention is to continue with its work and to go on striving to lay the foundations upon which a good, solid, and fair fabric of social structure can be built, and nothing is going to divert us from that purpose."

Earlier in his speech Mr. MacDonald said that the new Session was going to be a strenuous Session, a Session of hard work, and a Session of constructive effort. He suggested that to-morrow Mr. Baldwin would announce another new programme. At least every day for the next two or three weeks (Mr. Baldwin) had been testing the public, and several times before he had known what he had been committing himself to he had committed himself to it with most extraordinary valour. So far as the Government was concerned, they were going ahead steadily, quietly, and imperceptibly. The chief business this Session would be to begin reconstructing from an agricultural basis. That must be done in a careful and scientific way. They had come to a time when they had got to build and to take the responsibility for construction, and that would be done this Session. They were still a minority, and nobody knew better than he what the limitations of a minority in the House of Commons were.

They were going to get into a position where their old free will could be carried out by majority votes in the division lobby.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]

Although still unable to talk coherently, he retains consciousness, and every hope is entertained for his recovery.

DORNIER DO-X ARRIVES AT LISBON.

FLIGHT BY EASY STAGES TO AMERICA.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

CORUNNA, Nov. 27.

The giant German flying boat, Dornier DO-X, which arrived here on Tuesday, left for Lisbon at 11 a.m. to-day, and is reported to have arrived there at 3.2 p.m.

The Dornier DO-X, which is bound for America by easy stages, is the largest flying-boat in the world, and is driven by twelve Curtiss Condor engines, developing 7,200 horse-power. The wing span is 137 feet.

The Atlantic flight will be made via the Azores and Bermuda. A vessel is to be in waiting between the two groups of islands with fuel for the DO-X. Besides her crew, she carries 13 passengers, including Lady Drummond Hay, and her average speed is about 105 miles per hour. The plane's designer is Dr. Dornier—a Bavarian.

CONSERVATIVE VOTE OF CENSURE.

REJECTED BY SIXTY-FIVE MAJORITY.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, Nov. 27.

In the House of Commons, to-day, moving a vote of censure on the Government, Mr. Stanley Baldwin accused the Government of lack of vision and courage in failing to seize the opportunity of securing Imperial economic unity.

He believed that if steps were not taken to get a sense of economic unity inside the Empire, the danger was that unity was great, and if Great Britain did not make arrangements with the Dominions, the latter would make arrangements with each other without considering the Mother Country.

Dominions Secretary Replies.

Mr. J. H. Thomas, replying, declared that the principal demand of the Dominions was that Britain should agree to tax foodstuffs while they modified the existing arrangements. They wanted Britain to change her principles while they only changed certain details. "The Imperial Conference had consolidated the present Imperial constitutional position, and had opened the way to a consideration of economic problems." He refused to subscribe to the view that only materialist considerations could bind the Empire together. They were not excluded from any path which would tend to the happiness or comfort of our people, and strengthening those ties of kinship and friendship was the greatest and most lasting of all.

Canadian Premier's Proposal Inadequately Discussed.

The Rt. Hon. L. M. S. Amory complained that there had not been adequate discussion of Mr. Bennett's proposal. The Government had failed to use its opportunity.

Chancellor of Exchequer Winds Up Debate.

Mr. Philip Snowden, winding up the debate, said that the "opportunity" missed was the opportunity for taxing the people's food, adding to Britain's economic burden, and injuring a large part of Britain's foreign trade.

The House of Commons rejected the vote of censure, the division resulting:—

SHANGHAI EDITOR'S SALARY CLAIM.

JOURNALIST AWARDED $1,500

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]

SHANGHAI, Nov. 28.

Mr. George Lloyd, formerly of Hong Kong, lately Editor of the defunct Shanghai Mercury, who claimed from the liquidators $3,000 in lieu of notice, obtained judgment for $1,500, the Court holding that no more was due under the agreement whereby the plaintiff was engaged.

Defendants denied appointing Mr. Lloyd as editor, and declared that he was merely an editorial assistant.

Mr. Lloyd contended that he was entitled to six months' notice, and not notice that one would give to a butler or a chef.

Several Shanghai journalists gave evidence.

JAPAN EARTHQUAKE TOLL.

FUNDS FOR RELIEF OF THE REFUGEES.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

Tokyo, Nov. 28.

The latest official returns of the earthquake casualties give 250 dead and 351 injured; 2,353 houses completely destroyed and 5,654 partially destroyed.

The damage to roads, and rivers is estimated at Yen 20,000,000.

The Emperor, and Messrs. Mitsu & Co. and the Mitsu Bishi Co. have contributed large sums for the relief of the refugees. Other donations are pouring in.

With characteristic tenacity and stoicism the sufferers are already working hard to repair the damages.

INCIDENT AT AN INN.

LANDLORD'S SUCCESSFUL APPEAL.

Thomas Priestley, landlord of the Snake Inn, a hostelry between Glossop and Sheffield, successfully appealed at Derbyshire Quarter Sessions last month against a conviction by the Chamberlain-Frith magistrates for an alleged assault on Mr. W. J. Grace, jun., an undergraduate at Balliol College, Oxford, and son of the American Consul in Sheffield.

It was stated that on July 10 Grace and a young woman graduate of London University, while on a walking tour, called at the Snake Inn for tea. The landlord complained of Grace having his dirty boots on the sofa, and when Grace refused to take them off he seized the landlord and held him by the arm and led him out of the inn.

It was alleged that in so doing he used unnecessary violence. Dr. Hirst of Chesterfield, and Mr. Botham of Sheffield, gave evidence to the effect that they did not see any force used. The Bench allowed the appeal and ordered the costs to be paid by Grace's father, who had the information.

Mr. T. R. Whittingham, the Manchester solicitor who acted for Mr. Priestley, said that it was largely owing to the report of the case appearing in the London papers that the fresh witnesses had come forward.

FORTUNE FROM GLAD EYES.

GIRLS TRAPPED INTO ARREST.

New York.—One of the most remarkable characters in the New York underworld—a little wizened man—was questioned for several hours in the Appellate Court, which is inquiring into the activities of "a vice ring" whose members are charged with having collected a million dollars ($200,000) per annum from women arrested on charges of immorality.

Known as "The Dove," he has acted for 15 years as the agent-provocateur of the police vice squad, and it is estimated that he has made a fortune of $100,000 by giving the "glad-eye" to women and then arranging with the police vice squad to raid his little party.

Commission.

For each girl arrested "The Dove" is alleged to have received a commission of $2. Now that he has "spilled" so many secrets of the underworld, he is being closely guarded by detectives.

Before appearing in court, the little man was interviewed by police at his luxurious flat, where he is attended by a valet and a corps of maid-servants. Four men and a ring are alleged to be co-operating with corrupt members of the vice squad.

COAL DISPUTE IN BRITAIN.

STOPPAGE IN SOUTH WALES AVOIDED.

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

RUGBY, Nov. 28.

Hopea have considerably strengthened that the stoppage in the South Wales coalfield will be avoided.

The National Coal Board, having examined the miners' case throughout the day, at midnight issued a statement that a unanimous conclusion was reached which has been embodied in a report and forwarded to the parties concerned in the dispute. This is unofficially stated to recommend a "spread-over" of hours for South Wales without a reduction of wages. The eight-hour day would thus be continued as is being done in other districts for a temporary period.

It is anticipated that the South Wales miners and owners will hold a joint conference on Saturday to consider the application of the "spread-over" to their district, and that later in the day the miners' leaders will ask the members to approve the agreement.

Stoppages have been avoided in several coal fields where the owners and miners have come to terms.

In North Wales, the first "spread-over" of hours is accepted until January 31 next on a basis upon a maximum of 45 hours a week at current rate wages.

In Durham, a shift will be of seven and a half hours for all underground workers, except deputies, who will be required to stay longer if necessary at overtime rates.

In Bristol, the "spread-over" of hours and a continuance of working as at present will go to the unions for final settlement.

ARE BANKERS TOO OLD?

"AXE" FOR GERMAN VETERANS.

Berlin—Swollen and in some cases inefficient bank directorates in Germany are to come under the "axe." Seven elderly directors of one of the "D" banks (financial institutions corresponding to the Big Five in England) are to be placed on the retired list and their places taken by younger men who, it is felt, will be better fitted to deal with modern financial and economic problems.

The "nationalisation" of other bank directorates is to follow and as far as possible in future, business efficiency, and not influence or the number of shares held, is to be the sole qualification for nomination to a German banking board.

Mr. Montague Norman, Governor of the Bank of England, who is 59, is the youngest bank chief in England. Following are the ages of the other chairmen:

Mr. R. H. Tennant (Westminster) (next month)..... 70
Mr. R. McKenna (Midland)..... 67
Sir H. Goschen (National Provincial)..... 65
Mr. F. C. Goodenough (Barclays)..... 64
Mr. Beaumont Pease (Lloyds) 61
Their average age is thus over..... 64.

COLOGNE BRIDGE BATTLE.

"NAZIS" FIRED ON BY COMMUNISTS.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

COLOGNE, Nov. 28.

A number of Nationalist-Socialists who were marching across the Hohenzollern Bridge were fired on by Communists ambushed behind the pillars and railings of the bridge.

Four Nationalist-Socialists were badly wounded, and in a hand to hand fight which followed many were injured, some seriously.

The police, who had difficulty in separating the combatants, arrested 40 armed participants.

ROUND TABLE CONFERENCE.

FEDERAL RELATIONS COMMITTEE.

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

RUGBY, Nov. 27.

The Federal Relations Committee of the Round Table Conference held a brief meeting this afternoon for the specific purpose of co-opting all the delegates to the Conference not previously members of the Committee.

This course is taken at the request of the British Indian delegation to secure representation of all interests on the Committee. Consequently, when the Committee meets to-morrow it will constitute a Committee of the whole Conference.

It is expected that its first business will be to examine the "Heads of Subjects" for further discussion which Lord Sankar, at the request of the Committee, has submitted. This list is merely an attempt to canalise the discussions of the Committee, and does not in any way exclude from discussion subjects not included therein.

Constitution Must Be Original.

Addressing the English-Speaking Union at a luncheon to-day, Sir John Simon said a detailed plan which faced irreconcilable facts was needed in working out a change in the Constitution of India and not a general phrase. The immense area and population of India, the diversities of race, creed and caste, the overwhelming predominance of the rural population, the high percentage of illiteracy, the standing menace of the North-West Frontier, and the existence of the Indian States were facts which must be provided for.

He was persuaded that the ultimate form of the Indian Constitution would not be a mere imitation of some existing scheme which had been worked out in perfectly different conditions in another part of the world, but one really suited to the special circumstances of the Indian case.

WHO WILL WIN TO-DAY'S BIG RACE?

ST. ANDREW'S STAKES AN OPEN EVENT: SEVERAL CONTENDERS OF MERIT AMONG LIKELY STARTERS.

SOME POINTS ABOUT TO-DAY'S RACING PROGRAMME.

[By "MORNING DEW."]

The outstanding event to-day is the St. Andrew's Stakes over the mile and a half. Several big stables are represented by good candidates and a very keen race should be seen. To pick the winner is a very difficult task as there are several entrants of about equal strength. On paper it looks as if Nationalist II, President Hall or Sitting Bull will supply the answer, although it would not be surprising if either Wisdom Stag, Peppercorn or King's Colour did the trick. The chances of the favourites are fully discussed below.

Besides the main event, the "A" class race over the mile should provide a contest worth going a long way to see. The ex-Champion, Elliot Bay, is entered and will be running against that great short distance performer of the past, Boxing Eve. Royal Flush is here also running at a comfortable weight as is Chesapeake Bay, Majestic Hall and Duke of Chantilly. Here also punters are referred to the more detailed notes below.

TRICKY WEIGHTS MAY UPSET FAVOURITES.

The handicap events provide much speculation as to the relative chances of the entrants. The "C" and "D" Class races over six furlongs are as puzzling as the "B" class over the mile, where it is just possible that another big dividend will be paid. It will be recalled that the winner of the "B" Class race during the past two meetings, San Francisco and O-Moon have each provided the biggest dividend of the day. Will history repeat itself to-day?

Glasgow Handicap "A" Class.

The programme opens with an unofficial race after which there will be Glasgow Handicap "A" Class ponies over the mile. As mentioned earlier there are some classy ponies entered here and I shall deal with them in the order in which they are likely to finish.

Boxing Eve.—This candidate looks the best for a win. He can hump a big load but will be starting to-day with only 135 pounds on the saddle. He is quick with the start, gets into stride easily and a mile is not too long for him.

Elliot Bay.—Still a good performer in spite of the fact that he has done no actual racing for some time. He is an ex-champion who has covered the mile and a quarter in 2 minutes 32 seconds, so, if he did a mile in 2 minutes, it would not surprise anyone. He is fighting fit but the long interval that has elapsed since his last outing is against him.

Royal Flush.—If you have been at the last "extra" meeting you will understand how this pony laughs at 150 pounds.

On that occasion he did six furlongs in 1 minute 20 seconds. He has to cover two more furlongs to-day, and consequently should be a very good each way bet.

Chesapeake Bay and Majestic Hall both finished second at the last meeting, and the former was a very good second at that. They should give fairly good odds to-day. Piccadilly and Duke of Chantilly are likely starters, and, if you are looking for very long odds these should be your bets. Their chances of success, it is only fair to add, are very meagre.

Glasgow Handicap "C" Class.

Christmas Belle after his meritorious win at the last meeting when he romped home by himself should do well here. He is carrying a good bit of weight, but this appears to have been fairly generously handed out by the handicapper in this event.

Mount Elburz.—This pony found a mile too far for him at the last outing when he dead-heated with Bridge Hall for third place. To-day he has a quarter mile less to do and is well worth an each way bet.

Grey Dawn.—Here is a very game animal that has been running fairly well of late. He is due for a place again this afternoon.

Of the others in this race, Bridge Hall, Tarmacadam, Tonbridge and Sonny Boy are all worth an odd ticket, especially the first named as he is very fit at the moment. His weight is the only thing against him.

Lanark Handicap Second Division.

Piecy should do well over this mile and a quarter race as he has accounted for some very good ponies in the past over this distance. His condition is quite good at the moment and he will be sure to find much support to-day.

City Hall.—This ex-Derby winner three weeks ago and will be a big danger to the favourite if the going in the earlier part of the race is not too fast.

Glasgow Handicap "D" Class.

Oasis in spite of 168 pounds will probably win here. Mr. Heard will probably take the pony out and in a six furlongs race his experience is a big factor.

Noukhal is extremely fit at the moment and should run into second place.

Mongolian Stag is moving very nicely in the early morning gallops and if Mr. Frost has the mount, look out for him.

The field is likely to be quite big.

Lanark Handicap First Division.

The Tiger has only 161 pounds and should win. He ran beautifully at the last meeting and there is every reason to believe that he will repeat his fine performance to-day.

Little Thunder with Mr. Pun in the saddle is "full of beans" at the moment and is sure to give a good account of himself.

Peppercorn with 157 pounds does not look like a winner, but he certainly will be "somewhere there" at the end of the race.

Four Clubs ran quite well at the last meeting and if you are looking for a long shot in the last race of the day here is your opportunity. Fifty Fifty, also, might prove to be a surprise packet and is worth an odd ticket.

THE SUSPENDED FOOTBALLERS.

[TO THE EDITOR OF THE "HONG KONG DAILY PRESS."]

Sir,—With reference to recent correspondence in local papers in connection with the suspension of two football players, the following information might be of interest to your readers:—

This morning's vernacular paper, Wah Kiu Yat Po, gives the information that Tao Kwai Shing, one of the suspended players, played as a member of the Loh Hwa Club in a League match against the Rebs in Shanghai on November 22, 1930.

The jurisdiction of the Shanghai Football Association which is affiliated to the English Football Association to which the Hong Kong Football Association is also attached.

It is interesting to observe that the Shanghai Football Association has viewed the matter from such a liberal point of view more especially as they undoubtedly have already been officially advised by the Hong Kong Football Association of the suspension of this particular player.

It will also not be out of place to mention that Chan Mee On, who was also a member of the Chinese Amateur Soccer Team that toured the South, has taken part in two official league games in Hong Kong, appearing for the South China team. His status, I have been authentically informed, comes under the same category Tao and Chan, the two "delinquents" debarred by the Hong Kong Football Association.

The singling out of the players for trial by the Hong Kong Football Association reflects on the FUTURE OF NORTHERN RHODESIA.

STATEMENT BY THE GOVERNOR.

There has been a noteworthy development in connection with the movement for amalgamation with Southern Rhodesia, which arose after the publication of the Imperial Government's Memorandum on Native Policy in East Africa.

After an interview which he accorded to the elected members of the Legislative Council, the Governor, Sir James Maxwell, authorized the statement that the Memorandum would not affect in any material detail the policy hitherto pursued by the Government of this territory; that during this term of office the interests of the European settlers would not in the smallest degree be affected adversely by the Memorandum or its implications; and that in his view there was nothing in the Memorandum which would have the effect of retarding the normal political development of the territory, or militate against the legitimate aspirations of the white settlers to a larger share in the management of their own affairs.

This statement by the Governor is likely to affect the proposal to amalgamate the two Rhodesias.

GIRL WIFE'S PARENTS.

SUICIDE OF HER EX-OFFICER HUSBAND.

Wimborne (Dorset).—A Bride aged only eighteen has been widowed and orphaned by a three-fold shooting tragedy which took place near this ancient town. Her four brothers also had a narrow escape of being victims of the murderer, their suddenly demented brother-in-law. The widow is Mrs. Trisio Burdett, whose husband, Captain Frank Hawkenford Burdett, a pensioned officer of the Regular Army, entered the farmhouse of his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Holloway, shot them dead in their bedroom, threatened her four brothers, and then rushing from the house, shot himself through the head, dying later in hospital.

Mrs. Burdett was married only a few months ago, and her husband was forty years her senior. Her parents, who lived at Walford Farm, near here, had a short time before taken action against the captain for abducting their daughter, who was then only seventeen. They withdrew proceedings, however, at the time of the wedding, and although Mr. Holloway and his son-in-law were still estranged, the couple settled in a villa near the farm, Captain Burdett pursuing his occupation of leather handicraft.

Recently he had been in financial difficulties, and more than once his wife's parents came to his aid.

The young widow said: "This morning at about five o'clock my husband woke me and rose from bed, saying, 'I cannot sleep, and I am going for a walk.'"

"After nearly an hour had gone by I became worried and went downstairs, where I found a letter on the hallstand marked 'Will'."

"I opened it. As soon as I read the first line I knew that something had happened, and I telephoned to the police."

The letter which Mrs. Burdett found read as follows:—"The time has come to do everything. I am going to do away with myself. I leave everything to my wife."

"I slipped a few clothes on, and on the way to the police station I met a policeman, who told me that something dreadful had happened at my parents' home."

TERRIFIED SONS.

ACID THROWN ON A DIRECTOR.

"I went with him to the farm where my brothers told me that my parents were dead, and then that my husband had killed himself."

Mr. Holloway's four sons, Maurice, Ivor, William, and Athelstan, had a terrifying experience. Their father went into their bedroom about a quarter to six this morning to call them at the usual time for milking.

"He had just returned to his own bedroom," said Maurice to me, "when we heard a scream and two reports from a gun. We all rushed across the landing to our parents' bedroom. The door was ajar, and we could just see Captain Burdett, with the muzzle of a double-barrelled shotgun pointed at us."

"He looked wild and shouted, 'I'll do the whole lot of you in.' Then he slammed the door in our faces and locked it."

"I dashed downstairs to get my gun, and my brothers followed. I found that my gun was not loaded, so we all went over to the cowshed and hid there, as we thought he was mad."

"I found some cartridges, and took up my gun. I saw Captain Burdett rush out of the house. I levelled the gun at him but did not fire. A moment later we heard another report."

"We then went to our parents' bedroom. My mother was lying dead in bed, and my father was dead on the floor beside the bed."

"MAGICIAN" KILLED.

STRAIT-JACKET STUNT WHICH FAILED.

A man named Karr described as a "magician," was killed at Springfontein Orange Free State, while attempting to carry out before a large crowd in front of the Town Hall the oft-repeated stunt of allowing himself to be strapp'd in a straight jacket and charged by a motor-car.

It is stated that Karr was a fraction of a second too late in getting away from the charging car which struck him and almost severed one leg. Death was instantaneous.

Before the performance Karr is reported to have read out a document exonerating the driver of the car from blame in the event of an accident, but it is understood that police proceedings will be taken.

STUDENT SENT TO EIGHT YEARS' PENAL SERVITUDE.

Sentence of eight years' penal servitude was passed by Mr. Justice Wright at the Central Criminal Court on Edmund Perkins, 23, student, found guilty of throwing corrosive fluid upon Cyril Jerrard Dunne with intent to do grievous bodily harm.

Mr. G. D. Roberts prosecuted; Perkins conducted his own defence.

Mr. Roberts said that Mr. Dunne was director of a gown manufacturing company in Borneo-street, W., where the prisoner's sister had been employed as a show-room assistant.

After she had left Perkins called on Mr. Dunne about some of her clothing. He told Mr. Dunne she was unhappy and asked if she could come back. He was told that her place had been filled. It was then alleged that he took a bottle of acid from his pocket and threw the contents over Mr. Dunne. Mr. Dunne was so terribly injured that his left eye had to be removed, his right eye was injured, and his face permanently scarred.

Perkins, giving evidence, said that he had the bottle of acid in his pocket before he thought of seeing Mr. Dunne. He offered him a cigarette, and on feeling for his matches, took out the bottle to prevent the fluid spilling. Mr. Dunne then seized his wrist, the stopper came out of the bottle, and the acid went over him. He had no bad feeling towards Mr. Dunne, and it was a pure accident.

The Judge said he was not concerned to speculate on the motives in the prisoner's mind when he committed this terrible crime. He could not understand how a man of his age and antecedents could in any circumstances have brought himself to such a cruel act. He had a good character, but the offence was so serious that he felt bound to pass a severe sentence.

PRINCE AMONG
EXPLORERS.HIS TRAVELS OFF BEATEN TRACK.

The Prince of Wales dined with famous explorers and travellers when he presided at the centenary dinner of the Royal Geographical Society at the Connaught Rooms.

"The history of the society," said the Prince, "is closely linked with the romance of most of the great British explorations of the past century."

"In these days of conducted tours to the sources of the Nile and flights over the most inaccessible parts of the Dark Continent, when hardly any important part of the earth's surface remains unmapped, it is strange to think of the time when large stretches of territory were completely blank."

"I have travelled a great deal under the most comfortable conditions, possible, and I have also flown for a considerable number of miles."

"Hats Off to Them."

"The more fortunate ones among us who have been in the more remote parts of the world on various explorations, scientific, sporting, or photographic, have had the opportunity of staying off the beaten track for a few days or a few weeks. We have been able to understand a little of what the great explorers of the past have had to endure."

"In the colloquial phrase, 'We take off our hats to them.' Admiral Sir William Goodenough, president-elect of the society, said: 'I do not believe that the world has become so shrunken that there is nothing left to be discovered.'"

"There is a mountain almost as high as Everest which has yet to be geographically determined, and there are plains as broad as the desert, and mines as deep as Golconda yet to be discovered."
